HOW TO CREATE ADVERTISEMENTS

Ad One: Adding value

- Click three line button in top left corner
- Find Create & Manage > click Ads Manager
- Click green “Create” button > select your objective
  - The two main objections you should look at are:
    - Traffic: If you are sending people to a website or article. If you select this objective, make sure you have your Facebook Pixel installed (instructions found on Audience Five)
    - Video Views: use this objective to show people a useful video that describes something about your business, your products or other information that potential customers may find useful
- Name your campaign: Turn off “Create Split Test” & “Campaign Budget Optimization” > click Continue
- Name your Ad Set > Scroll down to audiences > click use Saved Audience > select every Lookalike audience you created using instructions on the previous page.
- Locations: select Everyone and start searching for cities and/or postal codes where you'd like to receive new customers in > select your age range & genders.
- Click “Save This Audience” and title it: Custom & Look Alike (Location)
- Scroll down to placements > click Edit Placement > select Facebook Newsfeed and Instagram Feed ONLY. Note: uncheck everything else!
- Select your daily budget ($5/day minimum) > click Continue
- Name your Ad > select your Facebook page > select your Instagram page
- Choose your ad type (single image or carousel)
- Scroll down to Media > choose your images
- Scroll down to Text & Links > type out your text, select your website URL, type your Headline, choose your Call To Action > click Confirm and watch your ads bring in sales!
  - Important to note: use a headline that explains exactly what you are selling or showing people. Do not be vague. And use an image that has bright vibrant colours, nothing dull or dimly lit.
  - After you click confirm, you can go back to Campaigns > select your campaign (to bring you to Ad Sets) > check the box to the left > click the drop down arrow next to Duplicate, and click Quick Duplicate. This will create an identical ad and audience. After doing this, you can change one thing in the ad (such as the image or the headline) then click Publish. Now you will be running two identical ads using the same budget. After 5 days have passed, you can look back at your ads to see which one performed better. Turn off the losing ad.

Ad Two: Presenting Your Offer

- Repeat every step in ad one. The only difference here is that, when you finally get to Ad Set > Audiences > click Saved Audiences > and select every Custom Audience you created using the steps on the previous page.
- Continue to make your ad, knowing that everyone who sees this ad has already seen the “Adding Value” ad that you created above. This will ensure that you are only showing your offer to an interested group of people.

Notes:

- It is important to split test: create ads using two different images, different headlines, and even try two different pieces of value, such as different videos of you or different articles about your products. You will notice that after running your ads for 5 days, you will see which content people find more valuable and which ads bring you more sales. Continuously split test everything.

- When creating ads, there are always 3 things to Avoid and 3 things to Include:
  - Avoid: Confusing, Unbelievable, Boring (CUB)
    - To avoid being confusing, make sure your text is straight and to the point. People should know exactly what your ad is about and what you are selling. To avoid being unbelievable, make sure you give realistic offers such as 15% off, and avoid unrealistic ones like 90% off. To avoid being boring, you can use some humour, emojis (1 or 2 tops), and keep the text short!
  - Include: Problem, Solution, Offer (PSO), Bright Image, Simple Headline & Expiration Date
    - When writing your advertisement, a classic way to write is by stating the problem, your solution, and, finally, the offer. For example, “Did you know that Heirloom Tomatoes have 60% less pesticides and are way healthier! At XYZ Farm we only serve organic without any pesticides! Until July 2nd we’re offering our Heirloom Tomatoes at 20% OFF for all new customers. Pick up a lb for $3.00 by clicking the [Learn More] button below”
    - Bright images will always perform better than dull or dimly lit ones. You can also add banners or arrows on the image to create a pattern interrupt and stop potential customers from scrolling past your ad.
    - Including an expiration date on your offers will create urgency and usually result in more sales.
